NEUFCHATEL, November 5.

WHILST we thought ourſelves pretty ſafe from the Ravages of the Seyon, and every Thing was preparing for the Opening of our Fair, a new Inundation, much like what we ſuffered about ſix Weeks ago, has reduced us again to a deplorable Condition. That dangerous Rivulet the Seyon ſwelled to ſuch a Degree the 3d Inſtant, by a warm Rain which melted the Snow in the adjacent Mountains, that the ſame Evening it overflowed entirely the Street of the Mills. Towards Midnight the Alarm redoubled, occaſioned by the dreadful Noiſe with which that Brook ſwept away Beams, Trees, Stones and Gravel. The Merchants and Tradeſmen of the Town, and ſuch as came from other Places on account of the Fair, were wholly employed all the reſt of the Night in ſecuring themſelves and their Goods. Yeſterday Morning the Waters were ſo much increaſed, that the Hoſpital Street and Mill Street looked like a Lake ruffled by a Tempeſt. The Waters after filling all the Ground Floors in thoſe two Streets, iſſued out again in large Bubbles, and flowed with great Rapidity from the Mills, as far as the Market Croſs. The Inhabitants of thoſe Houſes eſcaped by Ladders out of the firſt Stories, in Boats that plied continually to receive them. Yeſterday about Five in the Afternoon the Waters abated a little, but our Fears are not yet abated, becauſe the Bed of the Seyon being encumbered with Timber and other Rubbiſh, brought down by the Torrent from the Mountains, if we ſhould be viſited by ſuch another Shower of Rain, as that which has occaſioned our preſent Diſaſter, the whole Town would be in Danger of being drowned.

Paris, November 23. A few Days ago we received the diſagreeable News, that the City of Biſboa in Auvergne had received incredible Damages by the Overflowing of the River Auchochet, which runs through the ſaid City. It roſe on a ſudden by a frightful Storm of Rain which fell amongſt the Mountains about two Leagues off. The Inundation was ſo terrible, that all the Houſes of the Lower Town were carried away; and happily the Bridges, tho' new, were not enough to reſiſt the Impetuoſity of the Torrent: If they had, the Upper Town muſt have undergone the ſame Fate with the Lower. Moſt of the Inhabitants of this unfortunate City are by this Accident reduced to Poverty.

LONDON.

November 20. We hear that the State of the Navy is as follows; viz. 57 Ships and Sloops in Commiſſion; 12 of which are Guard Ships; the reſt ſtationed in the Channel, and the Weſt Indies, 17 building in his Majeſty's Yards, 18 broke up and ſold, and the Remainder laid up in Docks, as unfit for Service, 'til an Order for their being refitted.

November 25. Tho' it has been doubted by many, whether the Report of the King of Pruſſia's receiving a Subſidy of 12 Millions of Livres from the French Court, be true; yet thoſe who have taken the Matter into Conſideration, aſſert, from hence the King of Pruſſia draws the neceſſary Reſources for maintaining an Army of 140,000 Men; when his Father and Grandfather, with all the Subſidies, and other Revenues, which it was well known they enjoyed, and without being at any extraordinary Expences which are now laid out in Diverſions, could never maintain above one third Part of that Number of Troops.

December 1. We hear that his Majeſty has been pleaſed to grant a Penſion of 3000 l. a Year to the Right Hon. the Earl of Harrington, during his natural Life.

December 2. Yeſterday Morning about Nine o' Clock, a Gravesend Paſſage-Boat was unhappily run down by a French Trader, in Blackwall Reach; by which Accident twenty nine of the Paſſengers were drowned, and ten or eleven were ſaved by Boats.

They write from Newcaſtle, that Tueſday was Fortnight, in a violent Hurricane, the Little John, Capt. Wilſon, laden with Plank from Dantzick to Hull, was caſt away on Bomer Rocks, a little North of Alemouth; and that the Captain and all the Crew (except the Mate) were drowned.

December 29. We hear that his Majeſty has been pleaſed to appoint the Right Hon. the Earl of Hyndford, and the Right Hon. the Lord Anſon, to be Lords of the Moſt Honourable Privy Council.

December 29. Advices from Turin aſſure us, that the King of Sardinia is reſolved to take an exact Account of the Revenues of the Clergy in his Dominions, in order to make them contribute more towards the Support of the State than they have hi herto done.

Letters from Hamburgh aſſure us, that a certain Court is ſo much diſpleaſed with the Project of crowning the Arch Duke Joſeph King of Hungary, as to threaten to proteſt againſt it; that two of the oldeſt Field Marſhals in Europe, Count Lacy and Count Seckendorff, are at the Point of Death: And that a very curious Memorial has been lately publiſhed there, to prove that a North-Eaſt Paſſage to the Indies, is both certain and practicable.

LONDON, December 25.

This Day arrived a Mail from Holland, which brings us the following Copy of the DEFINITIVE CONVENTION, between the Kings of Great Britain and Spain.

HIS Majeſty the King of Spain, and his Majeſty the King of Great Britain, having expreſſed an equal Deſire to adjuſt the diſputable Points, which at the Signature of the Treaty of Aix la Chapelle remained unſettled, with Regard to their reſpective Pretenſions, and to the Commerce of their Subjects; and their ſaid Majeſties being willing to terminate all Things thereto relating by a friendly Compenſation, for that Effect authorized their Miniſters Plenipotentiary (Don Joſeph de Carvajal de Lancaſtre, and Benjamin Keene), who, in Conſequence of their Inſtructions, have agreed on the following Articles:

I. His Britannic Majeſty cedes to his Catholic Majeſty his Right of Enjoyment of the Aſſiento of Negroes, and of the annual Ship, during the four Years ſtipulated by the 16th Article of the Treaty of Aix la Chapelle.

II. His Britannic Majeſty, for a Compenſation 100,000 l. Sterling, which his Catholic Majeſty promiſes and engages to pay at Madrid, or London, to the Royal Aſſiento Company, within the Term of three Months or ſooner, from the Day of the Signature of this Treaty, cedes to his Catholic Majeſty all that might be due to the ſaid Company in any Manner, on Account of ſaid Aſſiento, inſomuch that this Compenſation ſhall be eſteemed and regarded as a full and entire Satisfaction on the Part of his Catholic Majeſty, and ſhall extinguiſh for the Preſent, for the Future, and for Ever, all Rights, Pretenſions, or Demands, which might be formed in Conſequence of the ſaid Aſſiento or annual Ship directly or indirectly, either on the Part of his Britannic Majeſty, or on the Part of the Company.

III. The Catholic King cedes to his Britannic Majeſty all that he might demand, in Conſequence of the ſaid Aſſiento and annual Ship, as well with regard to the Articles already liquidated, as thoſe which might be eaſy or difficult to liquidate, ſo that neither on one Side nor the other, in ever the leaſt mention to be made thereon.

IV. His

IV. His Catholic Majesty consents, that the British Subjects shall pay no greater or other Duties for the Merchandizes which they import or export at the different Ports of his Catholic Majesty, than those which they paid for the same Merchandize in the Time of Charles II. of Spain, regulated by Schedules and Ordinances of the said King, or of his Predecessors. And tho' the Ple del Fardo was not founded upon any royal Ordinance, his Catholic Majesty declares nevertheless, that he wills and ordains, that it be observed for the present and the future as an inviolable Law, and that all tha said Duties be levied with the same Advantage and Ease to the said Subjects.

V. His Catholic Majesty permits the said Subjects to take Salt at the Island of Tortudoes, without any Molestation, as they did in the Time of King Charles II.

VI. His Catholic Majesty consents, that the said Subjects shall not pay any other Duties, than those paid by the Subjects of his Catholic Majesty in the same Place.

VII. His Catholic Majesty grants the said Subjects all the Rights, Privileges, Franchises, Exemptions, and Immunities, whatsoever, which they enjoyed before the last War, in Virtue of Schedules or Royal Ordinances, by the Articles of the Treaty of Peace and Commerce made at Madrid in 1667. The said Subjects shall be treated in Spain on the same Footing with the most favoured Nations. In Consequence, no Nation shall be rated at less Duties for the Merchandize they send into or carry out of Spain by Land, than the said Subjects pay for such as they import or export by Sea. All the Rights, Privileges, Franchises, Exemptions, and Immunities, that are permitted to any Nation, shall be granted to the said Subjects; and his Britannic Majesty consents, that the same Thing be granted and permitted to the Subjects of Spain, in the Kingdoms of his said Britannic Majesty.

VIII. His Catholic Majesty promises to take all the Care possible on his Part, to abolish all the Innovations which have appeared to be introduced in the Commerce; and in order to avert them for the future, his Britannic Majesty promises likewise on his Side to take all possible Care to prevent all Innovations of that Kind.

IX. Their Catholic and Britannic Majesties confirm, by the present Treaty, that of Aix-la Chapelle, and all other former Treaties; which are hereby confirmed in all their Articles and Clauses, excepting such as are derogated by the present Treaty; as also the Treaty of Commerce concluded at Utrecht in 1713, except those Articles which are contrary to the present Treaty, which become abolished and of no Force, namely the three Articles of the said Treaty of Utrecht, commonly called Explanatory.

X. All the reciprocal Difference, Rights, Demands, and Pretensions, which have subsisted between the two Crowns of Spain and Great Britain, wherein no other Affair has any Part, Interest, or Right of Intervention, being hereby accommodated; the two serene Kings mutually engage for the punctual Execution of this Treaty of reciprocal Compensation, which shall be ratified by their said Majesties, and the Ratification changed within the Term of six Weeks from the Day of the Signature hereof, or sooner if possible.

In Faith of which, We, Ministers Plenipotentiary of his Majesty the King of Spain, and of his Majesty the King of Great-Britain, in Virtue of our respective full Powers, have signed the present Treaty, and thereto affixed the Seals of our Arms.

At Madrid, Oct. 5, 1750. Signed,

Don Joseph de Carvajal de Lancastre, (L. S.)

Benjamin Keene. (L. S.)
